IMPORTANT INFORMATION FOR PATIENTS 16 YEARS OF AGE OR OLDER

One of the most uncomfortable discussions that doctors and nurses have with patients with epilepsy involve restriction of driving because a driver's license may seem essential to your independence. Although most state laws about driving and epilepsy are now less restrictive than they were many years ago, these laws were written to lessen the chance of harm to self or others resulting from having a seizure while driving.

Therefore, every state regulates driver's license eligibility for people with epilepsy. As a driver's license holder, it is your responsibility to know the regulations in your state. The most common requirement is that you must be seizure free for a certain period of time before you can be allowed to drive.

Although physicians can offer an opinion on your ability to drive safely, the department of motor vehicles makes the final decision. In some states, the physician can offer such an opinion if your seizures do not interfere with consciousness or control of movement. You may be able to continue driving if your seizures occur only at certain times, especially during sleep or if you always have an aura that would warn you to pull off of the road before a seizure begins.

If you are still having seizures, do not hide it from your doctor in order to keep your driver's license. Not reporting seizures makes it impossible for your doctor to treat your epilepsy effectively. The doctor may be able to prevent more seizures from occurring by making a small change in the dosage of your anti-seizure medicine, for instance, but that would not happen if the doctor did not know it was necessary. Inadequate treatment can lead to more seizures and the result may be that you or someone else may be injured. If your seizures are well controlled, use your driving privileges as a reason to take good care of yourself. If you always take your anti-seizure medicines as prescribed, get enough sleep, limit your alcohol consumption, and visit your doctor regularly, you will be more likely to be able to continue driving safely and legally.

Below is a brief description of the laws governing driving in our practice area:

NEW JERSEY:

- You must be seizure free for six months.
- Exceptions may be granted by the Neurological Disorder Committee.
- Periodic medical updates are required after licensing every six months for the first two years, thereafter annually.
- Your doctor must report recurrent convulsive seizures, recurrent periods of unconsciousness, or impairment or loss of motor coordination due to epilepsy, when the condition persists or recurs despite medical treatment.
- DMV appeal of license denial must be filed within 30 days.
- A person is disqualified from driving a commercial motor vehicle if he/she has an established medical history or diagnosis of epilepsy or any other condition which is likely to cause a loss of consciousness or loss of ability to control a commercial motor vehicle. Submitting a false CDL application is a federal offense.
- NJ Motor Vehicle Commission: 609-292-6500
- NJ Medical Review Unit: 888-486-3339

NEW YORK:

- You must be seizure free for one year.
- A person is disqualified from driving a commercial motor vehicle if that person has a medical history of epilepsy, has a current clinical diagnosis of epilepsy or is taking antiseizure medication.
- Doctors are not required to report epilepsy.
- Exceptions may be granted by the DMV's Medical Review Board.

- Periodic medical updates are required after licensing if determined by the DMV.
- DMV appeal of license denial must be filed within 30 days.
- NYS DOT for commercial licensing: 518-457-1010 OR 1016
- Medical Review Unit : 518-474-0774

PENNSYLVANIA:

- You must be seizure free for six months.
- Doctors are required to report epilepsy.
- Your physician will be required to complete a medical report stating that your seizures are controlled and send that report to the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation.
- The department may waive the seizure-free requirement upon request by the person's physician in the following situations:
 - You have a strictly nocturnal pattern of seizures or a pattern of seizures occurring immediately upon awakening that has been established for at least 2 years immediately preceding your application.
 - You experience a specific prolonged aura accompanied by a sufficient warning and this pattern has been established over a period of at least 2 years immediately preceding your application or suspension.
 - Your seizures had previously been controlled and the subsequent seizure or seizures occurred as a result of a prescribed change or removal from medication while under the supervision of a licensed physician.
 - Your seizures had been previously controlled for 6 or more months and the subsequent seizure occurred during or concurrent with a nonrecurring transient illness, toxic ingestion, metabolic imbalance or nonrecurring trauma.
- Motor Vehicle Commission: 800-932-4600
- Medical Review Unit: 717-787-9662

CONNECTICUT:

- There is no set seizure-free period.
- Doctors are not required to report epilepsy.
- Periodic medical updates are required after licensing if determined by the DMV.
- DMV appeal of license denial must be filed within 30 days.
- Motor Vehicle Commission: 800-842-8222 or 800-263-5700
- Medical Review Unit: 860-263-5223I have read the above information and all questions have been answered to my satisfaction.
